Fire and Smoke Damage Restoration

Clean Masters technicians are professionally trained to save your valuable possessions by removing smoke odor, soot, and residue.

If your contents are wet from water used to extinguish the fire, we respond immediately by doing a complete packout. We take the contents back to our facility to dry and clean. After completing the restoration process, we carefully pack and store the contents until your home or business is back in operation.

Once we have cleaned the structure, removed the soot and smoke odor, our contractors are ready to rebuild the areas that could not be saved. Since the rebuilding process can take weeks or months to complete, you are welcome to get any items or additional clothing from the packout.

We are sensitive to your loss and we treat your possessions with the greatest professional care and consideration.
